INCIDENT IS REPORTED TODAY

Ex-Chief Of Police Ruiz And His Followers Are Cap- tured After A Severe Fight, And Brought To Coast.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary Taft this morning received a cable from Governor Magoon dated yesterday in which the news is conveyed that the last of the bands of Cuban insurgents that were under arms have been captured and disarmed and are being brought prisoners to Cienfuegos. The dispatch was as follows:
"The band of eight men from Cienfuegos were overhauled by a detachment of rural guards under the command of Captain Landa today. They were taken into custody and disarmed and are now being brought to Cienfuegos." This is the last band of rebels that had refused to give up their arms and had thus far eluded the work of the officers to capture them.
Havana, Nov. 26.—With the capture yesterday of the band of eight men who were under command of ex-Chief of Police Ruiz, the last vestige of disorder in Cuba has disappeared.

Opera Soprano Who Won Fame
Abroad Will Sing in Native Land at Opening of Season.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Nov. 26.—The house show has come and gone and society now turns its attention to the season of grand opera which opens at the Metropolitan opera-house tonight. For the first time since the days of Colonel Mapleson's opera at the Academy of Music and the reign of Abbey at the Metropolitan, the metropolis this year is to have got their season well under way, the irrepressible Hammerstein will start his rival musical circus in the magnificent new Manhattan opera-house a few blocks westward from the Metropolitan. The Metropolitan season opening tonight gives promise of being fully up to the high artistic standard of previous years. Geraldine Farrar, the young American who has won fame abroad, is to be heard in her native land in grand opera for the first time. In addition to Miss Farrar the sopranos include Mmes. Lina Cavalieri, Berta Olsch and Louisia Tetrazzini. Mmes. Schumann-Heink and Mme. Kussy-Lama are the new names under the head of "mezzo soprano and contralto." JURY EXCUSED UNTIL TENTH OF DECEMBER

Jury Calendar for This Week Was Upset Today by a Settlement and Affidavits of Prejudice.

The settlement of the action of Frank Klasechka vs. the C. & M. & St. P. Ry. Co. and the filing by the law firm of Ruger & Ruger of affidavits of prejudice and petitions for a change of venue in the two actions of Charles E. Green, administrator of the estate of the late Joseph B. Green, who with his wife met a tragic death at the crossing near the Hough Shade Corporation's factory, against the same defendant, upset the jury calendar this morning. As far as the jury cases were concerned, these three cases were expected to consume the present week. Inasmuch as Judge Dunn was a member of the university board of visitors, it is to be away next week, the jury has been excused until December 10. Several of the issues of fact for the court will doubtless be taken up the present week.

CANADIAN ELECTRIC POWER NOT WANTED

American Civic Society Fears Flow of Niagara Will Be Lessened and Is Fighting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Secretary Taft today listened to arguments on both sides of the much-discussed question as to the transmission of electricity from the Canadian side of Niagara Falls to the United States. It is probable that a decision in the matter will be handed down at an early date, unless a further hearing is deemed necessary. The act passed by congress authorizing the secretary of war to fix the amount of power certain companies may transmit from Canada to the United States, also empowered him to prohibit the admission of any electricity from Canada, and great pressure has been brought to bear upon Secretary Taft to head off all electricity generated in Canada on the ground that the extension of such concession will further reduce the flow of water over Niagara Falls. The American Civic society is heading the opposition.

TEXAS OIL PROBE IS RESUMED TODAY

Ouster Proceedings Against Waters-
Pierce Company Taken up in District Court.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Austin, Texas, Nov. 26.—Another chapter in the long fight of the state of Texas against the Standard Oil company was opened today when the ouster proceedings against the Waters-Pierce Oil company were called for trial in the district court. The state charges that the Waters-Pierce company is a part of the Standard Oil company and is operating in the state in violation of the anti-trust law. The charges made that in certain sections of Texas where the Waters-Pierce company was unusually strong all the competing forces were destroyed by the Standard Oil company. The prosecution will introduce testimony to show that the Corsicana Oil company and the Seaboard Oil company, at Beaumont, two refineries owned by the Standard Oil company, did not sell to companies competing with the Waters-Pierce company, and that in return the latter company purchased all the oil sold in the state of Texas from these two refineries.

WILL PREPARE RIVER AND HARBOR MEASURE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—There was a feeling of satisfaction apparent among the members of the house river and harbor committee, who assembled in Washington today in response to a call of Representative Burton of Ohio, who is chairman of the committee. The committee meets to prepare a river and harbor bill for presentation at the approaching session of congress and there is every reason to believe that the measure will go through. "Assurances" have been received from Speaker Cannon and other republican leaders that a reasonable measure will be allowed to pass. It is impossible to say as yet what river projects will be favored by the committee and by congress, but it is a safe forecast to indicate that there will be generous appropriations for the Ohio and Mississippi river projects. The demand for the improvement of the Missouri, the Tennessee and other great waterways will be taken under consideration by the committee in framing its bill.

GOLD PIECES FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Will Be as Popular as Ever—Thousands of Two-and-a-half Coins Being Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26.—Bright gold pieces will nestle in the toes of many little stockings at Christmas time. The United States mint in this city now is a whirring with activity and the monster presses are taxed to the utmost turning out hundreds of coins each minute to meet the great demand of the Christmas-rush. Six millions of dollars in gold, in double eagles, eagles and two-and-a-half pieces will be coined before the New Year. The tiny two-and-a-half piece, hardly larger than a cent, is the popular Christmas coin. The demand for the minor coins, dimes, nickels and cents, so necessary to the shopper, is greater than ever before. The coinage of pennies alone will reach a million dollars before the demand of the holiday season is supplied.

The discipline maintained on board the Algebras was excellent. The small boats were launched, filled with men and rowed away, while those who could not leave in this manner awaited the arrival of their rescuers. A few of the men, however, were forced by the flames to jump overboard and swim away. Six torpedoes on board the schoolship exploded while the men were leaving the vessel.
There was much fear during the height of the fire that a torpedo magazine on shore would become ignited, but this was prevented by deluging the magazine with heavy streams of water from powerful fire boats.

FOR GOOD ROADS

The columns of the Gazette are open for discussion of good roads, and all signed communications will be published, whether in accord with the organized movement or not. The question is one of great importance, and every side of it should be freely discussed.

Mr. Ezra Goodrich of Milton, whose letter recently appeared, is opposed to state aid, and argues that the county should build its own roads. This sentiment seems to be more or less popular, and it is largely due to two causes.

First, the lack of a better understanding as to state aid, and second, the fact that in some sections of the county, fairly represented by Milton, the roads now in use are considered good enough.

State aid does not necessarily mean a burdensome tax. There is no record of complaint, along this line, from any of the 38 states already enjoying it. Wisconsin is highly favored by not being subject to a direct state tax this year, and the chances are that for years to come, the railroads and public service utilities will bear the burden of taxation and contribute a surplus besides.

This surplus could not be better used than on the public highways.

The most important feature of state aid is state supervision, and this in itself is not expensive. While the average farmer is just as intelligent as the average business man, it does not follow that either are capable of planning and perfecting a class of work for which they have had no special training.

Road building is as much of a science as bridge building, and the work can only be intelligently performed by men who have mastered the science.

State aid means first a small corps of engineers to lay out and supervise the work. The amount of money to be spent rests with the counties which vote to take up the work.

The statement may seem startling, but it is nevertheless true, that there are very few miles of good roads in Rock county; that is, roads that are open to heavy traffic twelve months in the year, roads where a farmer can haul two tons to market as comfortably in March as in June.

The people of the county have had no experience with this class of roads, and they compare a stretch of passable road, which may pass their farms, to a poorer road in some other locality.

Good roads, built under state supervision, means a 16-foot road as hard as adamant, with all the grades reduced, with wearing qualities which cover a lifetime. This kind of a road helps the farmer to take advantage of the market, and adds to the value of his farm from 25 to 50 per cent.

Talk to any man who has visited Central New York recently, and ask him what this class of roads is doing for the farmers of the state. His answer will be a revelation.

There are many visionary and impractical reforms discussed these days, but there is nothing visionary about the good roads proposition. The legislature can not do better than to give attention to the movement.

FREAK RULINGS

The rulings of the postoffice department, for which the third assistant postmaster general, Madden, seems to be responsible, partake of the freak proposition to such an extent, that they are being freely criticised.

Madden recently appeared before a congressional committee in New York, and favored increasing the rate on second class mail matter from one cent, the present rate, to four cents per pound. He seems possessed of the insane notion that the government will go into bankruptcy unless his particular department shows a balance on the right side of the ledger.

This is the silliest argument ever introduced, and is inexcusable from a man who claims to have ordinary intelligence. The expense for maintaining the national government is half a billion dollars a year.

This includes the pension roll, the army and navy, the postoffice department, and all other items connected with government expense.

The sources of revenue, one year with another, provide for these expenses, and no direct tax is necessary. The revenue comes from the duty on imported goods, known as the tariff, the internal revenue tax, the receipts of the postoffice department, and all other sources where tribute is paid for service.

No effort is made to make any one department self-supporting, and there is no demand for such effort, Mr. Madden to the contrary notwithstanding. What the people want is a one-cent letter postage, and they are entitled to have it. They also want the rates on second-class mail matter fixed at a rate which will encourage the distribution of this class of matter.

The publishers are paying today a fair price for this service, and every cent that they can afford to pay. If the privileges enjoyed are abused, shut off the abuse, and take a rest.

Mr. Madden's latest effort is to try and stop the coupon system, so generally used by publishers in voting contests, and to test the value of a publication for advertising purposes. He claims that this is using the mails to furnish a cheap class of stationery, overlooking the fact that every coupon returned means a two-cent stamp that would not otherwise have been sold.

The government has a lot of civil service-protected employees, who ought to be pounding sand on a railroad, and the postoffice department appears to have its full quota. What the people want is intelligent service in every department, and to this they are entitled.

Edward Ungar celebrated his fortieth birthday by treating his friends in a German saloon. The party became so boisterous that the police were called, and Ungar arrested and fined one dollar, while his friends wished him many happy returns of the day. Thus does Milwaukee continue to be famous.

The collision of ocean liners in broad daylight, with plenty of sea room, seems inexcusable. Yet this is what happened a few days ago, and a dozen people lost their lives, as the result. The steamship companies are evidently short of men capable of carrying responsibilities which their positions demand.

Paris papers are very much exercised over the arrest in New York of the noted tenor singer, Caruso. He is charged with attempting to kiss a society woman, an act of fine Italian gallantry, which Paris commends. The point of view has everything to do with a stolen kiss.

The negroes of Chicago are much incensed over the prospect of Tillman's proposed speech in that city. If the white population will draw the line on Tillman, where it belongs, the Chautauqua will find him a poor drawing-card. The same north has no time for Tillmanism.

The President lost nothing in size or popularity by his recent trip to the Canal Zone. He captured the natives, without effort, and gained some knowledge of the great canal questions, which will be used intelligently in the work of construction.

The question of newspaper mileage in exchange for railway advertising, is to be threshed out in the supreme court. The decision of the interstate commerce commission is likely to be reversed, as there is neither justice nor common sense in the ruling.

Prince Boni has been offered a job in a French restaurant with a $10,000 salary. He ought to be a good drawing-card, and with his wife's allowance of $50,000 he might be able to economize and get along.

While east, west, north and south floods and blizzards are playing havoc, southern Wisconsin has escaped, and is the veritable garden spot of the country.

PRESS COMMENT.

Still Feeding on a Hope. Milwaukee Sentinel: In the hour of his defeat Mr. Hearst has been cheered by a banquet by his successful associates on the ticket and the thought that a recount may yet make him mayor of New York.

An Amended Answer. Chicago Record-Herald: In reply to a correspondent who asks: "How can I stop biting my finger nails?" the New York Herald says: "Wear a muzzle." That might do, but wouldn't it be simpler for him to have his teeth pulled?

With Assurances, Etc. Exchange: Secretary Bonaparte's plan for having "legalized party bosses" might be all right if the country could only be assured the bosses would always do their bossing in a strictly legal manner.

Genial Words of Watterston. Exchange: Col. Watterston has some genial things to say of retiring Senator William A. Clark of Montana. One is that "he has tangled his feet in the folds of his toga," and the other that he is "an ass in a lion's skin."

Bob to Tell Golden State. Hurley Miner: Senator La Follette has gone to California to tell the people of that state what a wicked country this is and especially what a degenerate lot of individuals go to make up the inhabitants of his own home state.

Opinion of the Booted. Milwaukee Journal: Gorky calls New York "a greedy, engorged, loathsome stomach." That's the fellow who was booted out of several New York hotels for trying to palm off on them a female "traveling companion" as his wife.

Cham Oozing Happiness. Milwaukee Journal: Cham Ingersoll of the Beloit Free Press is as happy an editor as there is in Wisconsin. His postoffice bark rode the political storm and now is safely in the harbor. The F. P. actually oozes self-satisfaction these days.

Dietz Affair Stirred up Again. Eau Claire Leader: Now, just as we get over the election hubbub, along comes some fool lawyer of Sawyer county and stirs up the whole Dietz affair, worse than ever. Didn't Dietz get "high snuff" over from the dime museum?

Limit of Meanness. Milwaukee Free Press: The very meanest man in creation is acknowledged to be the fellow who picked the pockets of the sufferers by the San Francisco earthquake and got away with the money that had been given them by the generous people of the United States.

Forest City Milkmen Beware! Rockford Register-Gazette: If the Rockford milkmen don't look out President Roosevelt will get after them, just as he has the Standard Oil. Perhaps they think that an agreement among all the dealers to raise the price of milk to six cents a quart doesn't constitute a trust, but a lot of people who buy milk think otherwise.

Depravity of London. Chicago Record-Herald: "We in London," says London Opinion, "have two music halls crowded nightly by the exhibition of shapely women clad in nothing but white paint and classical atmosphere." Is this an exaggeration, or is London really so much more wicked than the worst mining camp in America?

Not Exactly Indispensable. Evening Wisconsin: The University of Michigan's Athletic association is said to be contemplating an application for admission to the eastern championship series. Michigan isn't in the east, but if her athletes prefer to think so, the western university athletes can find things busy enough without her.

Astor Recognized by Nobility. Milwaukee News: That expatriated American millionaire that is to be named as co-respondent in a divorce suit to be brought by an English peer could hardly feel greater honored if his lordship had kicked him downstairs.

Untrue But Interesting. La Crosse Leader-Press: An enterprising Marinette correspondent sends out a graphic dispatch to the effect that Ed Younger, one of the famous bandits released from Stillwater penitentiary, is in the upper peninsula in a destitute condition. As Ed Younger committed suicide a couple of years ago, and as Cole, the only other surviving Younger, is living in Missouri in good circumstances, the dispatch is of unusual interest.

The New Metal Money. Exchange: A new metal named monel, produced by the Canadian Copper company at Sudbury, Ontario, is said to possess all the qualities of nickel. It is a compound of copper, nickel, iron and one or two other minerals obtainable in the Sudbury district, and can be produced at a less cost than nickel. This discovery will be of great economic value, as in addition to being cheaper, monel is not so liable to rust as the metal which it will probably displace to a large extent.

The Pullman "Melon". Milwaukee News: The Pullman company has cut its "melon" in the form of a $25,000,000 stock dividend. It has been paying regular dividends at 8 per cent and has accumulated a surplus of $27,000,000. Taking this surplus as a basis of its stock dividend, it has increased its capital stock $25,000,000 by the simple process of printing shares and allotting them to its stockholders.

The traveling public, which has paid in excessive fares the millions accumulated in the company's surplus, now will be called upon to pay dividends on the money that it has contributed through extortionate charges for berths in the monopoly's sleeping cars.

When the rate bill was before congress the house of representatives, which it seems has been a beneficiary of the Pullman company's courtesies, sought to exclude sleeping car companies from the provisions of the bill. It was upon the insistence of the senate, notably through the straight-from-the-shoulder urging of Senator Tillman, that a provision was inserted making sleeping car and express companies amenable to the law.

It is reported that one of the fastidious ladies of this town knead bread with her gloves on. They may be somewhat peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shirt on; he needs bread with his shoes on; he needs bread with his pants on; and unless some of the delinquent subscribers to the Flag of Freedom pony up before long he will need bread without a thing on, and North Dakota is no Garden of Eden in winter time, either. —From the North Dakota Flag of Freedom.

It is said that $30,000 barrels of cotton seed oil are used every year in Maine to pack sardines. $30,000 is the amount Holland uses to improve its famous butter, while Italy and Spain import 600,000 barrels to re-bottle and send back to this country as "olive" oil. And America produces it all. Yet Americans refuse to use this same bland vegetable oil on the table unless it has a foreign label which pretends that it is something else than it is. Cotton seed oil is as wholesome as any olive oil, as cleanly and nutritious as any butter—better than some, but there is a prejudice against it in America because it is an American produce.—Jacksonville, (Fla.) THAT THANKSGIVING DAY UNION SERVICE

"A Layman" Objects to the Announcement That "All the Churches" Will Join Therein.

Editor Gazette: In Saturday evening's paper appears under the heading, "Union Thanksgiving Service," the announcement that this year the union Thanksgiving service will be held at the Methodist church. The announcement says: "All the churches in the city will join in this service."

He who is acquainted with the fact that out of Janesville's thirteen churches only four "will join in this service" must certainly regard this as a very strange statement. Presumably one of the four reverend gentlemen who "will join in this service" is the author of it, and we would respectfully invite him to explain what it is meant to convey to the minds of the church-going public.

One clergyman who will not "join in this service" in making his announcement for Thanksgiving services said that in reading this notice he was reminded of the story told of three London tailors who had a petition to make to the Lord Mayor of London. They commenced by saying: "We the people of London do hereby petition," etc.

Is it comical, ignorance or disrespect for others that prompts this strangely false statement? A LAYMAN.

This grievance is due to a statement that "all the churches would join in a union Thanksgiving service." The notice should have read that the Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist churches would join in a union service, as has been their custom for 25 years or more. The pastors of these churches are in no way responsible for the inadvertent statement.

Do You Patronize Home? Those of you who have been making your purchases away from Joplin should think before patronizing mail-order houses any further. Who sympathized with you when your little girl was sick? Was it Sears & Roebuck? Who carried you last winter when you were out of a job, and had no money? Was it Montgomery, Ward & Co., or was it your home merchant? PLINY WILBUR
ENDED HIS LIFE

SHOT SELF IN HIS ROOM THIS MORNING.

DEED WAS PREMEDITATED

Left Letters Saying He Worried Much and Death Would Be Relief—
Doctor Says Melancholia.

Evidently discouraged because his two years of hard study had apparently availed him little and believing there was little in life to look forward to, Pliny Wilbur committed suicide by shooting this morning while suffering from melancholia. The terrible deed was performed in his room at the home of Andrew W. Reddy, 112 North Jackson street, shortly after six o'clock. He was called at the usual hour and responded. Half an hour later Mr. Reddy remarked that Mr. Wilbur must be sick, for he had always been prompt in arising. Miss Cornelia Reddy went upstairs to call him again or see if he was ill, but no answer came from the room. The door was partially ajar and she pushed it open. On the floor lay the prostrate form. She immediately called Mr. Reddy and found the unfortunate young man was dead. A revolver lay on his breast and there was a bullet wound in the right temple. Dr. Chittenden was summoned and after an examination said that death had been almost instantaneous. From all appearances Mr. Wilbur had been in bed and on getting up had partially dressed, then laid on the floor and carefully discharged the weapon. After that he had possessed enough strength to put the pistol on his breast and stretch his arm out at his side.

Visited Family.

The tragedy is a particularly sad one, for Mr. Wilbur was a universally esteemed and respected young man. He was twenty-two years of age, having been born October 10, 1884, in the town of Harmony. He worked his way through the Janesville high school, graduating with honors in June, 1903. Up till the middle of this summer he worked as a clerk for Cove N. Van Kirk, grocer, and had spent the two years previous in study for the railway mail service. When he was first ready to take the civil service examination a golfing development on his neck, making him physically ineligible. This was cured and in July he passed the test with a standing of ninety-nine percent. This excellent mark brought him a special appointment and in August he entered the government employ as an extra clerk. He worked but two weeks when his health failed, the jar of the train affecting his stomach and other organs. It was a great discouragement to him and he told friends he intended to go west and learn the lumber business, beginning at the bottom. In the latter part of September, after spending a few days with his father in the town of Harmony, he went to Mount Vernon, Washington, where his mother, two brothers and sister reside. A week ago Thursday he returned, saying that he was homesick and unable to stand the climate of the northwest. Last Monday morning he began work at the furniture store and undertaking rooms of W. H. Ashcraft, but this profession and business was not to his liking.

Shielded His Plans.

Saturday evening he visited Dr. Chittenden and secured some medicine to restore his former health. Dr. Chittenden understood that his great ailment was melancholia, and cheered him up as much as possible. Yesterday he purchased an expensive .32 calibre hammerless Iver Johnson revolver from the gunshop of F. P. Pierson, saying he had been thinking of buying the gun for some time and now had the money, having disposed of his interest in a launch. He seemed in usual spirits and gave no evidence of being either gloomy or insane. Then he went to the Reddy home and wrote two letters, no doubt those he left to his father and to Miss Reddy. In the evening he visited friends and spent the hours enjoying himself. His last words other than his response to his call to awaken this morning, were he pebbly spoken to Will McCue, who worked home with him. They concerned the weather and the muddy crosswalks. The two letters explained his action in his note to Miss Reddy he asked forgiveness for suiciding in her home, hoped that God in his mercy and goodness would pardon his awful deed and then continued: "I have been worrying badly lately and death will be a relief to me. I am glad to say that I have no ill feeling toward anyone and I think no one has any unfriendly feeling toward me. I have brought this on myself by constant worry which I could not avoid."

Exemplary Young Man.

Pliny Wilbur is survived by a father, Stephen H. Wilbur, who has of late been living in the town of Harmony, a mother, a sister and two brothers, who live at Mount Vernon, Wash. His sister is Mrs. Daniel Preller and his brothers are Leslie, who is older, and Harry, who is younger.

In high school Mr. Wilbur was a bright student and popular young man. He was a phenomenal athlete, being a star football and basketball player and a good baseball player and track athlete. His death is the second suicide from the original class of 1903, Leon Ayers, who was taking a course of study in three years and would have graduated in 1902, having smothered himself in his room at the Y. M. C. A. during his senior year.

No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made.

American League Wants Annual Baseball Sea- son Made Shorter.

Harry Burchell's Mission Abroad -- Hackenberger, the Yale Center.

The American league will advocate a longer world's series, a shorter championship season and a greater number of post-season games between teams of the major leagues for the next season as a part of the winter baseball campaign, according to an announcement made by President Johnson.

There also will be efforts to curb the practice of independent or city league clubs hiring players under contract to national agreement clubs with or without the consent of the teams to which they belong.

Henry P. Burchell, a well-known eastern sporting editor, has gone to England as the special commissioner of the Jamestown exhibition for the purpose of having the winner of the great British intervarsity rowing contest to meet the winner of the Yale-Harvard race and the winner of the intercollegiate eight oared event at Poughkeepsie. The English collegians will be offered the opportunity of a dual contest with the winner of the New London match or to take part in a three cornered race which will include the winner of the varsity race at Poughkeepsie.

Immediately upon his arrival Mr. Burchell communicated with the presidents of the Oxford and Cambridge boat clubs. Should Oxford and Cambridge definitely decline the invitation Mr. Burchell will endeavor to arrange for a combined Oxford and Cambridge and Leander and London rowing crews. The agreement to have an international rowing regatta at the Jamestown exhibition was reached at a conference held in New York between R. H. Sexton of the Jamestown exhibition and the members of the executive committee of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen.

Assurance has been received that one or more of the European clubs will send crews.

Hackenberger, the center of the fast Yale varsity football eleven, has won wide commendation by reason of some very good work this year. Hacken-

The Roundup By Willie West

How a Classic Prize Fight Developed Into a Sprint- ing Match.

A crowd of real New York sports recently held a classic prize fight on a deserted pier that juts out into the East river, and the results were numerous, various and each more pathetic than the other. Mickey McDonough was to battle Fred Lucas at 165 pounds, winner to take all of the $100 purse that he could reach in the scramble that would occur at the finish.

The crowd gathered at the appointed time on the pier. Canvas was spread, and the benches were fixed up making the ring, which was about twenty feet

"They aimed the cot at the river," each way. A chill wind blew from the river, and every one was there with the cold feet and the red cheeks.

Suddenly a big fellow with a broken nose who looked like an Indian chief came in, followed by about eight hand-picked.

"Here's Lucas," piped one of them. All out with the necks to see the fight. He sat down, and then came McDonough as serious as a judge. He squatted in the other corner, but as soon as his weight settled on the chair it broke, and he went to the floor like a sack of flour. The big laugh and then another cheer.

Oh, how the cold wind blew! Mickey pulled off his clothes to strip, and then pulled his grand form. "He's as hard as whalebone," piped one of the knowing ones. "Mickey would fight it here was snow on the ground."

The scrappers were both ready now and pulling on the gloves when suddenly from the rear there was a yell of "Cops!" Mickey pulled on a coat, and all got busy and started to jump over the benches, when Kid Murphy chirped out over the noise, "Sing a song, sing a song!"

A gent with a black eye and a scar on his cheek walked out to the center of the ring and, with a sweet voice like the fat boy in the quartet, started to sing "When the Whippoorwill Sings, Marguerite."

The wild crowd of a moment before settled down with faces like angels and as though they were at a Sunday afternoon concert of the Bible class.

There really was a cop in sight. He walked over, piped the crew and began to look for evidence. There in a corner were the gloves and underclothes of Mickey McDonough. The song stopped, and a bunch started for the stairs. One lone cop stood there guarding the evidence. He held the gloves in his hand and faced the crowd.

One fellow stole the clothes as the cop watched those in front, and then another gentle looking young man with two cauliflower ears spoke to him, asking what he meant to do with the gloves. Before the copper knew what was coming they grabbed him, lifted him over the benches and crowded him to the rail.

The gang aimed the struggling defender of the peace at the river. The river was about forty feet below, and it looked very cold and very wet.

"Up wid him! Up wid him!" And they had him on the rail pushing him over when some others grabbed his feet and held him.

A determined shove by the first attackers sent the policeman heading into the river. The splash was terrific. Just at this moment ten other policemen arrived, and a grand scramble followed. At last reports Lucas and McDonough were huddled together across Cherry hill in tight eight yards in the lead of almost the entire New York police department.

F. H. Yost, Michigan Coach

A Leading Football Ex- pert of Middle West, His Methods.

A Former U. of M. Player Tells a Characteristic Anecdote of Him.

Fielding H. Yost of the University of Michigan is generally believed to be the ablest football coach in the middle west. The University of Michigan, University of Pennsylvania match at Philadelphia has brought Yost into greater prominence than ever.

He it was who developed the four great Michigan teams that won the western championship. He has trained and given football education to a majority of the middle west's football stars in the last five or six years.

Yost is one of the most energetic of all football coaches. That is the reason he is called "Hurricane" Yost. "Hurricane" is his one best bet in football, as Yost believes that a poor team that plays swiftly will often defeat a good eleven that is slow in getting into action.

Yost's "hurry up" methods have given rise to many stories. One of them, told by a former Michigan player, Neil Snow, is as follows:

"The Michigan team was in a sleeper bound for a big game to be played next day. At the last minute before leaving Ann Arbor Yost had decided to use a man in the game who had been in the hospital for two weeks and had had no practice in the most recently conceived formations. Most of us had turned into our respective berths when it suddenly occurred to Yost that possibly this invalid needed a little extra coaching before the game.

"He got out on the aisle and started in. In about a minute that poor guy was being rushed up and down the aisle, from one end of the car to the other end and back again. Yost varying it occasionally by dumping him into one berth or another and every once in awhile, just for extra variety, chucking him into an upper berth or under the lower.

"Remember, I'm an invalid," expostulated the mark after a time. "You'd better let up on me now and I'll go to sleep."

"Yes, farmer," yelled Willie Weston from his bunk, "let up on him and we'll all go to sleep."

"But that was old Farmer Yost. He is so devoted to his work and is so incessantly out for victory, overwhelming victory, that he makes himself a pest to any one not a football bug. But if you really want to know football, take a course under Yost and you'll learn all there is—if you live."

MANSFIELD'S TRIUMPH.

Chicago Gives Star and "Peer Grunt" a Tremendous Ovation.

The reception given Richard Mansfield in Chicago in "Peer Grunt" by the audience has seldom been equaled on the American stage. Seldom have the critics given so much space to a play and used so many laudatory terms in describing both it and the actor.

One writer said: "Mansfield has made the greatest triumph in the English speaking stage has known in years with his gorgeous production of Ibsen's spectacular comedy, 'Peer Grunt'."

"The first three weeks were sold out in advance, and he was obliged to continue to play it during his fourth week and defer the production of the plays of his repertory."

"Asked the other day for the story of 'Peer Grunt' in the fewest words, Mansfield repeated these beautiful lines of Kluge's:

"When all the world is young, lad, And all the trees are green, And every goose a swan, And every lass a queen, Then hey for boot and horse, lad, And ride the world away; Young blood must have its course, lad, And every dog his day!"

"But when the world is old, lad, And all the trees are brown, And every swan a goose, lad, And all the wheels run down, Then his away to home, lad, Thy crony friends among, God grant thou find a nice, lad, Thy enemy when all was young."

PRESS COMMENT.

Carter the Lazy

Chicago Chronicle: It is said that Carter H. Harrison, having despaired of obtaining the democratic nomination for mayor, is getting ready to announce himself as a "citizens" candidate. A "citizens" candidate is generally a man who is better than any political party and so good and pure that it would be a sort of sacrilege to put his name on a regular ticket. Is Mr. Harrison that kind of man? The general impression is that he was for eight years the laziest, most good-for-nothing and most selfish mayor this city ever had. Is this impression a mistake?

Sweet Sisterly Solitude

Belton Free Press: Janesville, probably remembering that a "rose will smell just as sweet under another name," has gone to work and changed the names of a score or two of its streets and avenues. There may come times when some belated citizen whose temporary condolence interferes with a lively recollection of current events who, by force of habit, will name to the Good Samaritan that seeks to remove him from his sidewalk berth to his own domestic life the old instead of the new name of his street, and thus create a nocturnal confusion in a peaceful neighborhood. Such things have been in Janesville, it is said, even without the change of names or streets.

Ideal—Nearly But Not Quite

Appleton Post: It has often been remarked that an ideal government would be one solely administered by a dispassionate, incorruptible, wise, just, disinterested and righteous sovereign. And as Janesville is a city with all these virtues, with him installed as the legalized and universal boss and emperor, we would have a veritable Utopia, during his lifetime. The ailment is most attractive. It would, of course, be irresistible. But he is not quite that and as a comparatively brief taste of a political millennium would be at the heavy cost of the chaotic condition certain to follow, the American people, we think, are likely to forego that experience.

Radicalism and Schools

New York Tribune: Chicago is always advanced. Living there, a man may enjoy all of the discomforts of living in the next century, if the theories who are now trying to accelerate the pace of progress have their way in shaping the coming age. We are thinking particularly of the Chicago school board, whose activities are the latest manifestation of the Chicago habit of making its glad we are not posterity. Even the Chicago people, accustomed as they are to the ways of their town, are pained by the school board. One newspaper was betrayed by its agitation into saying such things about the board as to lead Mayor Dunne to proceed against its editor for libel. The others have said everything that the libel law permits.

We suppose that it is generally known that Chicago's school teachers are unionized, and not merely so, but that the teachers' union is federated with the American Federation of Labor. The complaint now is that the school board, too, is practically unionized. We question the wisdom of permitting municipal employees like teachers, firemen and policemen to form unions, and we are sure of the folly of permitting such organizations, if formed, to ally themselves with organized labor. The blame of this, however, does not rest upon the Dunne administration. It was accomplished before Mayor Dunne's time. What he has done has been to put the Federation of Teachers in control of the school board, which means that the teachers, through their friends and sympathizers, run the schools to suit themselves.

Miss Margaret Haley, who is the organizer and walking delegate of the teachers' union, is a power with the Dunne administration. She is credited with having done much to secure the mayor's nomination, and she has dominated the selection of the school board.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increases in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, who are either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country. They creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain of left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation, but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone," and want to be left alone, feelings they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

MASKED BANDIT ROBS ALTON TRAIN

MAKES FIFTEEN PASSENGERS
DISGORGE AND IS CAPTURED.

BOLD CRIME IN MISSOURI

Police at a Station Ahead Are Notified by Telegraph and Catch the Man Unaware.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—A lone robber, masked and armed, robbed 15 passengers on east-bound Chicago & Alton passenger train No. 24, near Glasgow, Mo., after midnight Monday morning. He was arrested before he could leave the train and was taken to Glasgow and placed in jail.

The robbed train is known as the "Early Bird." It left Kansas City at nine o'clock Sunday night and was due at Slater at 12:27 Monday morning. At Slater the robber, wearing a mask over his eyes, boarded the rear car as the train was pulling out. After the train had gained speed, the man, revolver in hand, entered the car and began a systematic robbery of the passengers. Fifteen of them were made to disgorge.

Is Caught in the Act.

As the train passed through Glasgow, at which point it does not stop, the man was seen at work by the station agent who wired the chief dispatcher of the fact. Armstrong, the next station east of Glasgow, was notified and officers were at the station there to meet the train when it pulled in. No stop is made ordinarily at Armstrong and the robber, evidently satisfied in the belief that he was secure for this reason, suspected no harm when that point was reached. When the train stopped at Armstrong on orders and the officers boarded it they caught the robber at work. He had been through three cars.

He was taken without serious difficulty and upon instructions from the Kansas City office was taken back to Glasgow and placed in jail there.

The robber is five feet and five inches in height, weighs 135 pounds, and wears a corndog cap. He wore a mask that covered his eyes.

The robbed train was in charge of Conductor Hayward and is one of the fastest on the Chicago & Alton. It runs through to St. Louis and Chicago.

Believed to Be His Second Robbery.

This robbery is an almost exact duplication of that committed on the same line on November 9 when a lone robber, heavily masked, boarded the rear sleeper of the east-bound Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific overland train, which runs on the Alton tracks, and at a point of two revolvers forced the Pullman conductor, a negro porter and a brakeman to proceed ahead of him and awaken the passengers while he robbed them. On that occasion the robber passed the women by, and succeeded in getting but $68, which he took from three male passengers. This robber escaped and no definite clue was ever obtained of him, except that he was described as young and slight, this fitting in a general way the man who did Sunday night's job.

QUIET SUNDAY IN HAMILTON.

Street Car Strikers Rest; but May Resume Rioting.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 26.—Sunday was marked by unusual quiet on the streets, contrasted with the riotous scenes of the previous two days which have marked the strike of street railway employees here.

Some cars ran during the day and evening. In the outlying districts some stones were thrown and blank cartridges were exploded under the wheels, but there were no hostile demonstrations. The soldiers camped in the armory under arms awaiting the riot call, and the police reserves at the city hall probably contributed towards the peaceful day.

The officials of the railway company do not believe the trouble is at an end, however. The persons who were injured in the riots of Friday and Saturday are recovering.

LOOTED BY ITS EMPLOYEES

MONTGOMERY, WARD & CO'S KANSAS CITY BRANCH ROBBED.

Several Clerks Are Arrested and Many Have Been Discharged—Total of Thefts Not Stated.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—The systematic looting of the Kansas City branch of Montgomery Ward & Co. of Chicago, has been discovered and as a result a number of employees have been arrested.

It is said by an officer of the company in this city that warrants have been issued for the arrest of more than 12 former employees, and that the list may be increased as the investigation progresses. Andrew Young, general manager of the company's local branch house, declined to place an estimate on the value of the property stolen.

More than a month ago officers of the company suspected that a systematic robbery was being carried on by certain employees. Secret service men were employed who went to work with the regular employees and during the past week a number of arrests have been made. In addition to the arrests a large number of former employees have been discharged without being given any definite cause for their sudden dismissal.

SLAYS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

J. S. Mitchell Kills Spouse and Commits Suicide in Toledo.

Toledo, O., Nov. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. James Scott Mitchell, of Salem, Mass., were found dead in bed in a rooming house at Bellevue, east of here, Sunday morning.

When their room was entered a strong odor of formaldehyde gas was noticed. Coroner Vermilya rendered a verdict of double suicide. Later investigation, however, revealed facts which, it is said, tended to show that Mitchell drugged his wife and caused her death and then committed suicide by the same means. The two had been travelling together for several years, the woman being a palmist known as Ollie Courtland.

The parents of the dead woman, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Chittenden, of Salem, Mass., have been notified.

NOTABLE EVENTS OF PRESENT WEEK

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ENDING
A REMARKABLE JOURNEY.

SOCIAL SCIENCE MEETING

Investigation of McCarren's Conduct In Campaign—Dedication of New Catholic Cathedral at Richmond.

President Roosevelt is expected to return to Washington this evening after one of the most remarkable journeys ever undertaken by an American chief executive. He has traveled thousands of miles by sea, crossed the Atlantic and Pacific where the Americas meet, inspected the work being done on the great isthmian canal, and incidentally shattered the tradition that an American president must not, during his term of office, visit any land other than his own. During his stay on the isthmus the president visited the republic of Panama and for a time was under the protection of the Panama flag. On his return voyage he made a brief call at Porto Rico.

A congress for consideration of methods of social education will be held in Boston this week. The first session will be held on Friday and the meetings will continue for three days. Many authorities on social science will participate in the meetings and take part in the discussion on a wide range of subjects.

McCarren to Be Investigated.

As an aftermath of the recent election in New York state a special committee of the New York Democratic State committee will meet this week in New York city to investigate charges of party irregularity against Patrick N. McCarren, the Democratic leader of Kings county. The charge against McCarren is that he instigated the "scratching" which cost William R. Hearst, the Democratic nominee for governor, so dearly in Kings county. Mr. McCarren has been quoted as saying that he will make no defense before the committee, as he is convinced that he will be removed as a member, but that he will carry the fight to the courts.

A mass meeting to voice a demand that congress make a full investigation of the dismissal from the army of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry is scheduled to be held at Cooper Union, in New York city, next Thursday. Also some time during the week a large delegation of ministers, with lawyers who have been retained on behalf of the negro soldiers, will visit President Roosevelt at Washington and urge him to reopen the case.

To Dedicate New Cathedral.

Many of the most illustrious prelates of the Roman Catholic church in America will gather at Richmond, Va., on Thanksgiving day to take part in the ceremonies attending the dedication of the cathedral of the Sacred Heart. The new edifice, which will take its place as one of the four greatest cathedrals in the country, is the gift of Thomas F. Ryan, the New York financier.

The trial of Chester Gillette, charged with the murder of Grace Brown, his one-time sweetheart, which has attracted wide attention, will be continued at Herkimer this week. The prosecution is expected to finish its case early in the week and the defense will then for the first time show its hand.

Two Sporting Events.

The big sporting event of the week will be the annual struggle for supremacy on the football gridiron between the army and navy. The match will be played at Philadelphia on Saturday.

A fistic battle for the heavyweight championship of the world is scheduled for Thanksgiving day. The contestants will be Philadelphia Jack O'Brien and Tommy Burns and the scene of the conflict Los Angeles, Cal.

The diplomatic body will meet at Tangier, Morocco, November 27, for the purpose of considering the new international agreement and the enforcement of its provisions. The United States has not as yet approved the treaty carrying into effect the agreement reached at the Algeiras conference, but December 12 has been fixed as the date of its consideration by the United States senate.

The suit brought by the creditors of Count Boni de Castellane will be resumed before the tribunal of first instance in Paris November 29.

Memorial to Gen. Blackmar.

Boston, Nov. 26.—The unveiling of a tablet of bronze to the memory of the late Gen. Wilmon W. Blackmar, who was commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the time of his death, took place Sunday at the two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary of the foundation of the Second church (Unitarian) of this city.

Ex-Gov. Hunt of Idaho Dead.

Goldfield, Nev., Nov. 26.—Frank W. Hunt, who was governor of Idaho from 1898 to 1900, died here early Sunday, after a brief illness from grippe, brought on by exposure. Gov. Hunt was in the Philippines as lieutenant in the first Idaho volunteers and was decorated for bravery during the campaign. He leaves a widow and daughter.

HOTEL MAN SLAIN IN KANSAS CITY

J. FRANK EMERY IS MURDERED
BY WOULD-BE ROBBERS.

COLORED PORTER IS SHOT

Police Pursue and Capture the Hold-up Men, Wounding the One Who Did the Shooting.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 26.—In an attempt to hold up and rob J. Frank Emery, proprietor of the Kentucky House, a second-rate hotel at 905 North Sixth street, in Kansas City, Kan., Sunday evening, Emery was shot and killed and Lee Simons, a negro porter, was shot in the shoulder, and slightly wounded.

Charles Rumble, aged 32, an iron molder from Independence, Mo., one of the would-be robbers, was shot in the cheek by officers, who pursued him and Sam Hutton, a negro, down Minnesota avenue, the principal street in the city. Rumble's wound is not serious. Both Rumble and Hutton were arrested. Hutton's home is in Kansas City, Kan.

Robbers Were Intoxicated.

Rumble and Hutton were intoxicated. They entered the Kentucky House and walking over to the desk told Emery to hand over his money. No guests were in the lobby at the time. Emery told them to get out, that he had no money. The men staggered from the desk, apparently to take their departure. When they reached the door, however, Rumble braced himself against the negro and with a shaky hand fired two shots at the hotel proprietor.

Guests rushed into the lobby and found Emery dead, lying across the hotel register. One bullet from Rumble's revolver went wild. The second had pierced Emery's chest just below the heart, causing almost instant death.

A guest poked his head out of the door of his room, 20 feet down the corridor from the office. Quick as a flash Rumble fired two shots in his direction. The guest retreated to his room.

Colored Porter Shot.

Rumble and Hutton fled down the rear stairway. There they encountered Simons, the porter, who had been attracted by the shots and was just ascending the steps. Rumble fired a shot at Simons that struck the porter in the shoulder and the two robbers pushed by him and bolted for the street. The police station is situated immediately across the street from the hotel, and officers were on the scene a minute or two after the first shot rang out. Rumble and Hutton were seen by the officers on Minnesota avenue, a block from the hotel and gave chase, firing as they ran. One bullet struck Rumble, a glancing blow on the cheek, and caused the molder, because of his drunken condition, to stagger and fall. Hutton stopped running when he realized that Rumble had been shot and the pair were soon landed in jail.

Rumble appears to have forced the negro Hutton to join him in the attempted holdup. After the two men were arrested, a woman who saw them enter the hotel door and ascend to the office, which is situated on the second floor, told the police she overheard Rumble say to Hutton: "It's money we want. If you don't stay with me I'll kill you."
